TWENTY CENTS

THE RUINED WORKMANSHIP of the hand-carved back bar is assessed by owner Omer Berndt.

Fire investigation continuing

By Patrick Foley

Staff writer

An investigation is continuing into the cause of the fire Saturday morning at Pete and Mary's Tavern, 2408 Lincoln Ave. The neighborhood institution was damaged by a fire believed to have started near the back bar. The fire department report lists damages at $10,000 to the building and $5,000 to the contents.

The fire may be connected with the burglary of the tavern Friday night or Saturday morning. A burglar is believed to have gained entry into the building by forcing open the back door. Two cases of beer are believed to have been taken. Omer Berndt of Collinsville, the owner of the tavern for the past three years, said whoever broke in wasn't professional. "They didn't take anything of value, just some beer," he said. He said he intends to remodel the tavern and reopen.

"I've got no place else to go," he said. "Everything I've got is in here. I put in every cent I had."

Berndt surveyed the damage late Saturday morning after firefighters left the scene. "This was the prettiest back bar in Madison County, but no more," Berndt said as he looked through the rubble surrounding gifts and other collectibles still on the shelves behind the bar. Berndt said he spent $15,000 two years ago remodeling the tavern. "I was so proud of this place," he said.

Autographed baseballs, figurines his wife had given him, a photo of Olympic winner Wilma Rudolph and a hanging lamp above the cash register that came from the Cencos State Theater in St. Louis were some of the personal things Berndt

Jury selection begins in Bruce trial

EDWARDSVILLE — Jury selection began Monday in the trial of accused double-murderer Jack Gordon Bruce. Madison County Associate Judge Charles Romani Jr. ruled Friday that Bruce is mentally competent to stand trial.

Competency tests, conducted in October by Edwardsville psychologist Dr. Lawrence Tallana, showed Bruce was fit to stand trial. The tests were ordered by Romani.

Romani will render a decision, after a jury is selected, on a motion to move the trial away from Madison County due to pre-trial publicity, a court reporter said Monday.

Belleville attorney Paul Stornement Jr. will represent Bruce at the trial. Assistant State's Attorney Robert Trone has been assigned to represent the state.

The trial was originally scheduled to start July 21, but has been delayed several times.

Bruce, 43, faces four counts of murder, and one count each of attempted murder, armed violence and home invasion in the April 20 murders of realtor Carl Hoffman and his wife, Susan.

Their bodies were found in their home 1547 Rodger Ave. May 1 by an employee of Mr. Hoffman's realty firm. Both had been stabbed repeatedly and shot.

Mrs. Hoffman's daughter, Jennifer, was found unharmed in the home. Bruce allegedly turned on the kitchen stove's gas burners and placed a lit candle near them. No explosion occurred.

Bruce was arrested May 8 while recovering from a gun shot wound to the abdomen suffered May 3 at his home at 728 Old Alton Road, Mitchell. Police believe Bruce shot himself.

Reviews and previews

Swift to meet officials

Swift Independent Corp. officials are expected to meet with St. Clair County officials and possibly Senators Alan Dixon and Paul Simon on Friday in Dallas. The purpose will be to try to convince Swift to re-open its National City meat packing operation, which once employed 400 area workers before it closed. Swift announced several weeks ago the plant would not be re-opened after saying in January the company would return. The reversal was said to have been caused by a disagreement with labor leaders on who would do renovation work.

Millionaire identified

Granite Citian William Biggs, 63, was identified as the winner of $4.3 million in the Illinois Lotto game. Biggs bought his winning ticket at Sullivan's liquor store in Granite City. Though the drawing was Feb. 28, Biggs was not identified as a winner until several days later. Another Granite City resident, Jo Ann Cass, won $10,000 in the state lottery's instant game.

Armed robbery in beauty shop

A man wielding a pistol robbed customers at Bellemore Beauty Shop in Granite City last week. The man took three purses containing credit cards and $350 in cash. He has not been apprehended.

50 years ago

Thursday, March 11, 1937

Miss Bonelyn Bergfield, Venice, caught a 12-year-old boy after the boy rifled her pocket for 36 cents at the dime store here. After the young pickpocket was caught, Bergfield made him confess and told him to keep the money and buy clothes with it.

Tell it like it is

Q: Should Granite Citians remember the Granite City Council's telephone tax vote in the upcoming aldermanic election?

Jim Parker

"Yes, we should remember the City Council's telephone tax vote and help those aldermen who had the insight to vote for the unpopular tax so we can continue to enjoy the fine services we now receive." —Granite City

Leo Konzen

"Aldermen who supported retention of the telephone tax had carefully studied the city's financial conditions and were aware of the cost of essential city services. No alternate source of revenue was found. I concur with those who voted to retain this revenue?" —Granite City

Lucretia Wright

"I am for keeping the telephone tax. It is the only fair tax we have in the city. Almost everyone has a telephone." —Granite City

NEXT WEEK: What do you think is the biggest local issue in the April elections? To record your answer, phone 452-0222 between 5:30 p.m. and 8 a.m. daily. Leave your name, hometown and phone number for verification.

Quote of the week

"We didn't know what to do because he had a gun," said customer Gertrude Rutkowski after Bellemore Beauty Shop in Granite City was robbed last week.

Tip of the hat

Typing star

Melissa Singer, a junior at Granite City High School, is recognized this week for being selected to compete in a national typing contest sponsored by the Olympia corporation. Melissa will be tested in various aspects of business correspondence. She will compete with 5,000 students across the nation for cash prizes and an electronic typewriter.

Salvation Army sets Mar. 17 civic dinner

By Valerie Evenden

Staff writer

The Salvation Army's new divisional commander will keynote the Quad City Area's annual SA civic dinner at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 17, at the Corps Community Center, 3007 E. 23rd St.

The guest speaker will be Lt. Col. M. Lee Hickam, a native St. Louisian, who recently was assigned to his home community as divisional commander after 30 years of service with the Corps at many other locations.

Capt. Curtis Hartley, local Salvation Army commander, said the public is invited to attend the annual event.

Dinner tickets cost $6 each and reservations may be made by calling the Salvation Army office at 451-7957, Monday through Friday, between 9 a.m. and noon and 1 and 5 p.m. The program will include presentation of awards to various civic and service organizations that were responsible for helping to top the 1986 "Tree of Lights" fund-raising goal of $63,000.

Avery Schermer served as general chairman of the successful campaign. It provided assistance to needy families at Christmas and continues to help support year-around programs aiding area residents in need.

Appreciation certificates will be awarded to some of those who have supported the Corps' efforts, Capt. Hartley said.

The Salvation Army Advisory Board's new officers will be introduced at the dinner meeting. Irvin G. Slate Sr. is the Salvation Army board chairman.

Complaints continue concerning Cencom

By Bill Bagby

Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — Complaints concerning Cencom Cable Television have again reached the City Council floor.

Aldermen last week discussed problems residents said they are having at Cencom's converter store at 2065 State St.

Third Ward Alderman Paul Flisk said he has heard the remote-control unit that comes with the television would be obsolete using Cencom's new PD-3 converter box. But a subscriber can rent a remote control unit from Cencom for $3 a month, he said.

Flisk said he heard subscribers can't tape a television program with their video cassette recorder while watching another show. Programs can't be taped while away from home, Flisk said.

"I think we need to do some investigating," said 7th Ward Alderman Jeff Worthen. Some residents visiting the converter store have received sales pitches from Cencom employees to buy premium services, said 6th Ward Alderman Woody Moad.

"It's a damn shame, it really is," Moad said. "I think we need to straighten them out or get them out of here."

City Attorney Mark Goldenberg was asked by 3rd Ward Alderman Brett Hanke to investigate the possibility of opening the cable franchise to other firms.

"They (Cencom) promised everything in the world and they knew what they were doing when they promised it," said 1st Ward Alderman Everett Morley.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse, along with Madison Mayor John Bellcoff and Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols, should meet with Cencom officials to discuss the problems, 2nd Ward Alderman Sam Whittier said.

Bill Emiling, Cencom general manager, said problems with remote controls units and VCRs were rumors.

"You can still use your remote controls and VCRs," Emiling

Tip Top Tavern in business

Tip Top Tavern, 1746 State St., is still in business. The business gave up its package liquor license, but retains its tavern license. The Journal inaccurately stated the tavern was no longer in business when its package liquor license was relinquished and given by Mayor Von Dee Cruse to Schnucks. We regret the error.

Cable TV services being improved

To the editor:

It's come to our attention, through talking with our subscribers and neighbors, that our new technology upgrades has created stories rivaling the proverbial fish tale. We understand that our subscribers are hearing anything from:

- Their remote control is now useless (obsolete).
  - They can't use their VCR.
  - They have to have 5 wall-safe boxes mounted to their TV, etc.
- When talking with our customers, one on one, we've put these incorrect rumors to rest in their minds, but they suggested (and we appreciated it) that we relay our information to the public at large.
- We will start with fact number one. We have never charged for a service-related problem and never will. "Requests" for equipment from us (other than invalids, shut-ins, etc.) have always been something that we charge for — a special trip for an install, extra out, etc.
- We view our method of picking up our new PD-3's at a store, conveniently located, as a positive situation. It allows our customers to receive the new services starting in April and with a minimum of inconvenience.

The new services we're talking about are Big Events (Wrestle Mania I or II, Big Prize Fights, 50 live St. Louis Cardinals Baseball home games not seen on TV locally, Pay Per View movies, etc.) as well as any other new services in the future.

We've even discussed, with local governmental officials, the idea of putting our stores on the Senior Citizen bus routes.

Fact number two is that you can still use your remote controls and VCRs. You do now need a converter box with our PD-3 technology. However, with an A/B switch set up, we can keep your remote control, VCR operation working pretty much the way it always has.

Having a converter is required in order for us to provide you with our new services. Your PD-3 will put you in direct touch with our new:

- On-line billing computer for automatic response to your television and
- Our new order entry system that allows you to make automatic changes to your services even when our offices are closed or phone lines are busy.

Fact number three is that positive things are happening at our stores. We are giving away gifts just for coming into our PD-3 stores, as well as signing people up for give-aways later for VCRs, TVs, and one year of free cable. One customer picked up PD-3's for six of her neighbors.

Another customer (one of our senior citizen friends) met an old school chum whom he hadn't seen in years. Finally, others are finding that Cencom offers something for almost any taste, interest or background. The majority of the response is positive, and we are working to make waiting times much shorter.

We've said all of this to say just this: We appreciate and depend on your readers (Cencom subscribers or your neighbors) for a successful business relationship in the community.

We are investing over $2,000,000 to improve the technology and enhance the types and quality of services we offer. It's important to us to have the best service available for you. That will remain our goal at Cencom.

Preserve jury system, injury awards

To the editor:

In reply to the letter of Jere E. Freidheim, M.D., president, Illinois State Medical Society, which appeared in the Feb. 22 edition of the Press Record-Journal, this response is being respectfully submitted:

Substantial awards — including large amounts for pain and suffering — are made rarely, and when they are, it is because of the case, decide there are compelling reasons for them.

That certainly was the case of Harry Jordan, who had a healthy kidney removed, leaving the cancerous one remaining. He cannot work and he requires eight hours of treatment three times a week.

His quality of life has been overwhelmingly diminished and virtually destroyed. A jury therefore awarded him $5.2 million in general damages, but because of a California Cap Law, the award was slashed drastically.

In 1975, the California State Assembly enacted a "Tort Reform Package" that included a $250,000 cap on pain and suffering damages in medical-negligence cases. An examination of 1984 claims against the Southern California Physician Insurance Exchange shows the cap affected few cases — of 1,180 claims, 72 percent were closed without indemnity.

The 324 claims that were paid averaged about $80,000 and more than two-thirds were for $50,000 or less — far below the amount necessary to trigger the general-damages provisions of the law.

Moreover, despite the cap on pain and suffering and other limitations enacted by the legislature, the cost of medical malpractice insurance in California has risen steadily.

Evidently without realizing it, Dr. Freidheim and his counterparts have become unwitting pawns in the very successful propaganda campaign being leveled by well-financed insurance carriers.

The insurance industry has long been able to protect itself, and it is now undertaking a well-orchestrated campaign to deprive injured individuals of their constitutional right to trial by jury and compensation by a group of people who have no interest in the outcome of the suit being heard by them.

The insurance industry slashed commercial rates in the late 1970s and early 1980s in order to acquire as much premium revenue as it could so that it could benefit from the ravaging rates of interest which were then in effect.

Now that the economy has come to grips with itself and become more bearable for the rest of society, the insurance industry is left holding the bag with a shortage of premiums and incredible compensation for its top executives. In order to make up for these investment errors, a court system which has withstood the test of time for ages is being challenged.

It might be noted that Illinois is the only state where the insurance industry does not have to answer to any legislative or administrative body.

Premium-paying citizens are simply told that the insurance companies need more money, and they therefore raise rates. Where is the substantiation for the dramatic increases which all persons in every walk of life are experiencing?

Has the insurance industry presented convincing evidence that it is near the verge of bankruptcy? Hardly!

We are all too well aware that the downtown renovations so prominent in St. Louis and suburban shopping malls are financed by the wealth of the insurance industry.

The citing of the "Cook County Jury Verdict Reporter" is often done in order to highlight jury awards that have made headlines. What does not make headlines, but it is incredibly more common, is a verdict in which an injured party is left with no recovery.

The Cook County Jury Verdict Reporter is dependent upon attorneys reporting to it regarding the success or failure of their claims. The attorney who loses a medical malpractice case on behalf of his injured client is highly unlikely to contact a jury reporting system, newspaper, or any other form of media to publicize a defeat.

A similar reporting system is that of Jury Verdict Research Inc. (JVRI) of Solon, Ohio, a reporting system not limited to Cook County, or Illinois, but publishing statistics from cases heard across the country. The research service itself points out, however, that its summary of verdicts does not include those for the defendants where there are no awards.

JVRI adds: "Whenever considering medical-malpractice and product liability cases, it is important to bear one fact in mind: Less than half of these cases result in a plaintiff's verdict when tried by a jury. JVRI mentions that "the overwhelming majority of million-dollar verdicts are awarded in cases where the plaintiff has been seriously injured or is completely disabled and may require medical care for life. A final caveat from JVRI: 'It should always be remembered that awards of this magnitude remain unusual and are rarely considered the norm.'"

Nor are the results of the post-trial proceedings headline material. Very often the trial judge reduces an amount awarded by the jury, and the Appellate Court has further authority to additionally reduce a verdict which may have been the result of passion or prejudice.

In a few words, our system of jurisprudence takes care of itself. It is a system that is the envy of the world, and allows all persons, from the highest corporate executive to the lowest-paid part-time worker, access to a court system where an objective group of 12 citizens returns a verdict as it deems appropriate.

The medical profession has had the benefit of very favorable legislation in the last state session, putting certain limitations on the right to bring a medical malpractice action. Any further intrusion into the court system would amount to unconstitutional "special legislation" inuring to the benefit of the medical profession, but leaving victims without adequate compensation.

Should the widow of a physician who was killed in a calamitous air disaster be limited in her recovery to $250,000 for the loss of society, guidance, companionship, felicity and consortium that she and her children experience as a result of the untimely and unfair death of a husband and father?

Should the widow of a physician be revoked because General Motors finds its repair of defective automobiles to be a burden and an imposition on its shareholders?

This country's jury system is without comparison, and must not be altered because the insurance industry is putting the squeeze on physicians through an unjustified increase in premiums.

Venture grant requests by agencies welcomed

The United Way is accepting proposals for area human care agencies for grants to finance additional services; $14,170 is available for 1987 venture grants from last fall's UW campaign here.

The purpose of the Venture Grant Fund is to finance additional services which address unmet needs.

In addition to raising funds for participating agencies, the Tri-Cities Area United Way utilizes a volunteer citizen-review process to allocate the contributed dollars. More than $700,000 was raised locally during the latest fund drive.

Jack Lee, president of the First National Bank in Madison, is the recently elected president of the United Way board of directors.

Lee said the venture grant concept was developed two years ago to respond to changing needs.

"The needs of the community and its population are in a constant state of change. United Way has the responsibility of responding to those changing needs," Lee said.

"We decided to plan for this change and position our United Way to be ready to address new needs while continuing to support the agencies and programs we currently fund."

Agencies are encouraged to submit written proposals requesting funds. The deadline for submitting a request is April 17.

Guidelines for submitting a request are available at the United Way office, 2100 Edison Ave., phone 877-6780.

Seven area agencies received venture grants during 1986. Funded services included development of day care facilities, camp scholarships for economically disadvantaged children, and assistance to abused women and children.

The grants are available to agencies which demonstrate a need for the service to be funded.

Pre-paid tuition bill introduced

Legislation allowing parents to pre-pay tuition at a reduced rate, years before their child becomes college age, has been introduced in the House. State Rep. Sam Wolf, D-Granite City, is a co-sponsor.

"The Illinois Secure Trust Act allows parents to make a one-time contribution or a series of installments anytime after the birth of their child," Wolf said. "This guarantees the child four years of college at any state university with no additional cost for tuition."

The money contributed by participants is pooled and invested by a board consisting of the state treasurer, the comptroller and five gubernatorial appointees; in a similar fashion to the state employees' pension funds.

"The cost of college tuition has skyrocketed over the past several years and is expected to continue going up," said Wolf. "This cost will likely force many prospective students and their families to reconsider higher education."

"We cannot afford to allow the cost to go beyond the reach of our citizens. This program will help prevent this from happening."

Because the funds are invested over a period of years, the contribution required to participate is substantially lower than current tuition costs. Parents of a newborn child could contribute approximately $2,800 one time or annual installments of $308 until the child becomes college age.

"Contributions to this program are refundable, should the child decide not to go to college. Also, if the child enrolls in a private school, the money accumulated by the trust can be transferred to that school," Wolf said.

"Illinois Secure Trust is an attempt by the state to make higher education affordable for all and I believe it will accomplish that goal."

GC youth chosen for music camp

Paul Wilson of Granite City was awarded a partial scholarship for Illinois Summer Youth Music camp held at Illinois University by the Salem Women's Club.

This is an intensive instructional program that encompasses almost every aspect of the musical arts.

Paul, the son of David and Ellen Wilson of Granite City, was accepted to the camp on the basis of his school's recommendation. Developing the finest musical organization through full rehearsals and reviews of music fundamentals are emphasized at the camp.

Wilson holds first chair baritone in the Rosary High School Band. He has won three first superiors and three first awards at various state contests and has been nominated for the McDonald's All American High School Marching Band and the United States Collegiate Wind Band.

Wilson is listed in the Hall of Fame for High School Musicians. He studied with Bernard Snyder, who is the principal trombone player with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra.

County employees explore Lotus 1-2-3 at BAC

The end of the workday every Wednesday for 15 St. Clair County employees comes about 10 p.m. — after class at Belleville Area College.

They are learning a new computer system. The county group makes up about half of the Wednesday night class learning Lotus 1-2-3, a business application program. They represent four different offices, personnel department, auditor, intergovernmental grants and Public Building Commission.

County Personnel Department Manager Betty Martz said she and five employees from her department go straight from work, eat together and spend about 90 minutes in the computer lab before class.

"Hands-on experience is the best way to learn," said Martz.

"It's like learning a new language," said Betty England, assistant secretary/comptroller of the Public Building Commission. "We are getting acquainted with the Lotus program so we will be ready for the new system slated for the Public Building Commission."

"It's a phenomenal deal," said

Jim Cox, dean of career business programs at BAC.

A private three-day course covering the same material usually costs between $750 to $850 per person.

"We offer the same information plus open lab time in our five-week course for $26," said Cox.

Among the 15 county employees in the class are two from Centerville. They are Jackie Radford, personnel, and Cheri Washington, auditor.

SIUE remodeling funds are in Thompson budget

SPRINGFIELD — Over $750,000 in remodeling work at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville and its Alton Dental School were included in Gov. James Thompson's new budget March 4, but money to build a new Art and Design facility was not.

SIUE officials had put the $4.7 million art and design center, to replace the old Wagner complex near downtown Edwardsville, as the top capital construction priority for next year.

The state Board of Higher Education also endorsed it as one of only four new buildings at state public universities recommended for funding next fiscal year, which starts July 1.

SIUE President Earl Lazerson was concerned the final "priority" list by the BHE did not list the art building higher, and he feared it might not make the governor's plan.

"I'm disappointed," said Lazerson March 4.

He said the university still hopes to obtain the money. "I know we will make every effort to see that that's part of the package approved by the legislature and the governor."

Lazerson said the university will begin talking to the governor's staff and local legislators. If the governor refuses to alter his budget, lawmakers could introduce special legislation for the funds, he said.

Lazerson said the university would not cut the amount of funding sought. "That's what's needed to get the job done," he said.

Planning funds of $294,100 for the 43,380 gross square-foot building have been appropriated this fiscal year but not yet released.

The funding that was listed by the governor includes $225,000 for space use changes once the new dental clinic at Alton is occupied. It will include new floor coverings and upgrading utilities.

Another $313,500 would be used for replacing and repairing equipment in the Science Laboratory building on the Edwardsville campus, as well as new doors in five buildings.

An additional elevator in the Peck Classroom Building would be installed for $126,200 and the remaining $74,000 would be used for repairs on University Drive and Bluff Road on the main campus.

Also failing to make the governor's budget was $253,500 SIUE sought for consolidating activities of the music department in the Communications Building and relocating the central computing facility to the basement of Lovejoy Library.

Alton Mental Health Center would get $721,000 for repair and fire safety construction under the governor's new budget.

It includes $346,000 to repair roofs on three buildings, $275,000 for fire alarms and smoke detectors and $100,000 for a sprinkler system.

Pere Marquette Youth Center near Grafton would receive $40,100 for modifications to its water plant.

Children's classes are offered for children from 5 to 16 years old on Saturday mornings. These classes are as follows: flintknapping, June 20; shell and bone beads, July 18; and pottery, Aug. 1 and 29.

Dog obedience course to begin

The Madison County Humane Society is sponsoring obedience classes that begin March 16 at Miners Park in Glen Carbon.

Registration for the 10-week, on-leash course will begin at 6:30 p.m. Dorothy English of East Alton will teach the course. The cost is $35 for one dog or $60 for two.

Dogs should be at least five months old to participate in the class. For further information about the class or the animals available for adoption, the Madison County Humane Society Adoption Center can be called at 656-4405.

Retired chairman of Reilly dies at 74

Thomas E. Reilly Sr., 74, chairman-emeritus of Reilly Tar & Chemical Corp., died March 2, 1987, in Methodist Hospital, Indianapolis. The firm's plants includes one in Granite City, a coal tar refinery.

Reilly retired in 1977 after 40 years with the corporation. He was president from 1973 to 1976 and was board chairman until his retirement.

He was the son of Peter C. Reilly Sr., who founded the firm in 1896. The father died in 1962.

Under Thomas Reilly's leadership, the corporation expanded overseas, forming a wholly-owned subsidiary — Reilly Chemicals S.A. — in Tertre, Belgium, in 1974.

Mr. Reilly earned a bachelor's degree in civil engineering from the University of Colorado and also did graduate work at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Cambridge, Mass.

The Reilly company today is a major producer of coal tar pitch, creosote oil and many chemical intermediates, and is the world's leading manufacturer of pyridines.

The corporation has plants in Illinois, Ohio, Texas and Utah, in addition to its primary facility in Indianapolis and its plant in Belgium.

Fire

Investigation continues, into cause of fire

pointed out as he looked around the blackened bar.

"It's something how the little things mean so much," Berndt said. "I'll have to find a place to go cry — later."

Firefighters responded to a call at 6:43 a.m. Fourteen men, two engines and one aerial unit were at the scene. Neighbors watched as firefighters extinguished the blaze.

The fire report lists the point of origin as near the back bar, but the cause is undetermined. Berndt said the building is still structurally sound and he plans to tear off the damaged areas and rebuild.

"The bar is OK, I just need a new back bar," Berndt said.

A TV, suspended high in a corner near one end of the bar, was destroyed by the fire. The plastic case had melted and long drips of plastic had hardened, cooled by water being used by firefighters to put out the flames.

"It's unreal," Berndt said. "I look at it and it still seems like it's not real."

DAR honors Mrs. Woodward

Drusilla Andrews Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution honored Florence Woodward at a recent meeting, by presenting her with a certificate from the society for more than 50 years of loyalty and devotion. Mrs. Woodward has been a DAR member for 57 years.

At the same meeting, Mrs. Marie Reinhardt was installed as a new member, her lineage papers having been approved by the national office.

Mrs. Sandra Wilkinson presided at the meeting and led the group in the flag pledge and the American's Creed. Mrs. Nancy Emahiser, a member from Virginia, read the president general's message.

The National Defense report, read by Mrs. Barbara Williams, concerned the interpretation of the word "republic," from the U.S. Constitution, as a government of law, not of men.

Williams said, "Many Americans do not understand the principles outlined in a Constitutional republic and therefore have given the government too many powers, making us more of a 'democracy,' which was not the founding fathers' intention. The government is supposed to guard our life, liberty and property, not regulate us from cradle to grave."

A safety tip on chemically treated food was given by Mrs. Jane Yastler, and Mrs. Williams read an article on cemetary vandalism and the cost to taxpayers.

The program was a brief history of the DAR during its early years.

Williams noted that a small group of women first had the idea in May 1890 and held their first organizational meeting on Oct. 11 of the same year. Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, the president's wife, was elected the first president general of the DAR.

The first chapter was in Chicago, organized on March 20, 1891. Also attending the meeting were hostess Emma Schoon, Mae McCormick, Millie McCormick, Florence Simpson, Linda Koenig, Ethel Beeler and Ella Ray Smith.

Maxine Duniphan named CF chairman in Mitchell

Voice of the St. Louis Cardinals, Jack Buck, chairman of the Gateway Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, has named Maxine Duniphan chairperson of the CF Run-Walk-A-Thon in Mitchell.

Duniphan will be conducting the event this spring to raise funds which will support research and care for children affected by cystic fibrosis.

Cystic Fibrosis is a fatal lung and digestive disease that affects one in every 1,600 babies born in the U.S. One in 20 Americans is an unknowing, symptom-free carrier of the CF gene. With continued research a test may be discovered to determine who are carriers.

Due to research and improved therapy, today 50 percent of CF patients are living to enjoy their 18th birthday and beyond.

"You can help these children who can't take breathing for granted by participating in our Run-Walk-A-Thon," said Duniphan. "Besides helping the kids, you will also have a great time."

Word of Life youths crown Valentine queen

The highlight of the past month for the youth group at Word of Life Tabernacle was a Valentine's Day service and banquet.

The service began with a time of praise and worship, followed by special selections including a duet by Bob and Sharon Kohnskey, a solo by Debra Stewart, a trio consisting of Sheila Dunn, Neva Lucas and Randy Gay, and a quartet including Cathy Bargiel, Gloria Loyd, Pat Malcor and Merle Schneider.

Presentation of the 1987 Valentine Court followed. All were elected at an earlier youth meeting. The third attendant was Stacy Taylor, escorted by Jeff Bearley; second attendant, Missy Murray, whose escort was Jimmy Matheny; and first attendant, Rachelle Matheny, escorted by Troy Huffman.

The 1987 Valentine queen, Jennifer Jerrell, was escorted by Mike Brumitt and crowned by Dawn Brumitt, last year's queen. Gail Huffman, the 1986 queen, was the crown bearer.

Following the service was a spaghetti dinner, held in the church fellowship hall. It was organized by Linda Brumitt and served by Neva Lucas, Linda Brumitt, Bobbie Crispin, Ricky Huffman, Elaine Jerrell, Carl McCallister and Brenda York.

Dorothy Edwards, honored

Prayer officers for the evening were Snoda Smith and Maggie Winberry, both of Calvary Shrine, Bernice Edwards, Gail Lee Shrine, Beulah Patton and Kermit Patton, both of Freedom Shrine, Ruth Cox, Raul Revere Shrine, Karmyn Edmonds and Edith Smith, both of Gabriel Shrine, Adrian Artman, Mount Olive Shrine, and Mary Ellen Lewis, Gabriel Shrine.

Other visitors were Rose and Albert Van Gils, Pride of the West, and Patricia and Bernard Sandifer, Gaspar Shrine. Advisors introduced were Jean Artman and Mary Ellen Lewis.

Refreshments were served in a dining room decorated with the Valentine theme.

Those assisting in the social hour were Mary French, Mary Bilibrey, Sue Williams, Lloyd Lewis, Mary Ellen Lewis, Henry Thomas, Donna Thomas, Mary Hoover and Della Aulabaugh.

High court says state should pay for courts

SPRINGFIELD — The Illinois Supreme Court wants the state, rather than counties, to pay for the costs of the circuit courts.

Chief Justice William Clark, on behalf of the high court, also called on the legislature to have circuit court clerks appointed by judges rather than elected by local voters.

Madison County has one of the busiest circuit courts in the state, outside the Chicago metro area, with a budget of about $1.9 million for the operation of the court and circuit clerk's office. County Auditor Pete Fields said Monday.

This year's budget provides $256,791 for the circuit clerk's office and another $627,910 for the chief judge's office.

Last year, Fields said, the circuit clerk's office actually took in more in fees — a total of $309,079 — than the office's budget.

For the current fiscal year, which began on Dec. 1, filing fees for hundreds of asbestos lawsuits filed by some county law firms have already generated thousands of dollars.

Because of the large number of lawsuits filed in Madison County, filing fees have been substantial sources of revenue for the county.

The Supreme Court's new legislative recommendation report does not address how fees raised in each circuit would be used if the circuit courts were completely funded by the state. The recommendation does say the cost of the courts should be "spread among all of the citizens of Illinois, rather than just placing severe fiscal burdens on local taxpayers in the counties."

The high court argued total state funding is needed to realize "the dream of a constitutionally unified state court system in all respects."

The state currently provides all of the funding for the appeals courts and also pays most of the salaries of circuit court judges, an administrative assistant and official court reporters.

The high court also noted that some chief judges "have had disputes with county boards concerning adequate funding of their courts."

The high court, as it has in the past, again also called on the General Assembly to make circuit court clerks appointed by the judges in their circuit, rather than elected at the polls.

The justices cited an argument by an advisory committee that circuit clerks are responsible to the judges and "the idea that a clerk could frustrate the policy objectives of the court he serves — on the grounds that he is elected, and therefore 'responsible to the people' — is intolerable."

Retirement leaves 9-man police force

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

VENICE — The retirement of Patrolman John Kittel, a police officer for more than 20 years, was accepted Tuesday by the City Council.

No replacement for Kittel, 51, was mentioned at the council session. The force now consists of nine officers, including Police Chief Farris Smith.

An eligibility list of prospective probationary patrolmen was to be compiled after the Venice Board of Police Commissioners conducted exams Feb. 7.

The examination session results have not yet been announced.

In other business, McKinley Bridge Manager Tom Fields informed the council 44,348 vehicles crossed the Mississippi River span in February.

Last month's traffic flow figures represented a daily average of 15,869 vehicles, an increase of 398 each day compared to February 1986.

Condition of the streets, especially quantities of loose rocks and gravel which cause vehicles to slide at some intersections, was brought to the council's attention by Silver Franklin.

"Gravel and dirt have accumulated at intersections and it's unbearable in some areas," the resident said.

"I brought this up to the council at the first of the year and I believe you said something would be done about it. I think we should get something going now," Franklin said.

Mayor Tyrone Echols said the city cannot afford to asphalt all streets, and "rocks are necessary when used as fill."

"Without question, we will be getting around to those rocks before the rainy season and before they wash into the sewers."

"We just don't have the manpower to do everything and it requires a little patience. We've cut the nine-man street department to the bare bones and now have only seven men."

"We get calls about doing these things all the time. Some people will call wanting us to cut trees or pick up trash. We could be picking up trash all the time, but the people would pay for dumping."

"I'd really like some answers to all this if anyone has them," the mayor said.

Building Inspector Roland Wilson has checked a deteriorating house in 400 block of Broadway and is preparing a report. Condition of the property was brought to Wilson's attention by the mayor.

A security guard at Triangle Metalworking Inc., 2720 Missouri Ave., interrupted a thief at 7:45 p.m. March 4. The intruder was stealing copper wire from inside a fenced area of the company. The thief fled, leaving the copper wire inside the fence near an entrance gate.

At about 5 a.m. March 5, the guard heard a car door slam and observed a late model Pontiac Trans-Am parked on the shoulder of the road, south of the main gate.

When the guard went to investigate, the car pulled away at high speed. He then noticed that the copper was gone.

Renal dialysis starts here

By Ken Moser

"My family didn't think I was going to make it," Mary Derossett of Granite City recalled. That was 13 years ago, when both of her kidneys failed overnight. That same evening, in May 1973, she suffered congestive heart failure also. "I was pretty bad off," she said. "I stayed in the intensive care unit for 15 days."

Somehow, she came through it all. But not without complications. Her life now depends on kidney (renal) dialysis, a treatment which purifies her blood by removing liquids and chemicals her kidneys would normally remove if they were present and functioning.

Each week, Derossett, 60, goes to a dialysis center for three, four-hour treatments. Over 8,100 hours of her life have been spent in hemodialysis.

For 13 years, she's gone to Renal Dialysis of St. Louis Inc. "My daughter would take me over there and my husband would pick me up," she said, "because I don't drive."

It was a major inconvenience for both her and her family. Even when the weather was horrible outside, the trip to St. Louis still had to be made.

All of that changed now. Derossett now goes to a renal dialysis center that's close to home. Southwest Illinois Regional Dialysis Center is open and operating at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Granite City.

Derossett was the first patient on the new 12-station unit. "I looked to a few doctors before, when I first started on dialysis in 1973, about getting dialysis here," Derossett said. "I remember one doctor telling me, 'Oh, that'll never happen. Mary, it's too expensive.' So, wait till I see him. I'll have to tell him what happened."

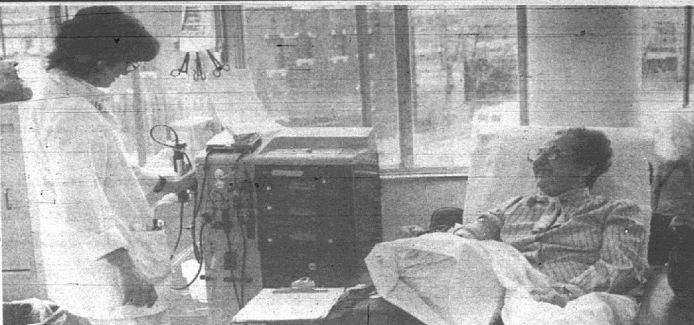

The medical center is leasing space to Health Care Renal Dialysis Inc., a firm which specializes in renal dialysis and operates numerous programs throughout the United States.

"We will be offering chronic and self-care in-center hemodialysis, home hemodialysis, education, and acute in-center hemodialysis," Gabe Wilson, R.N., said. "We'll also be providing peritoneal dialysis."

According to SEMC Vice President Steve Hunter, the new regional service will meet the needs of dialysis patients in the medical center's general service area, which includes Madison, Clair, Monroe and Clinton counties.

"This is wonderful," Derossett said, sitting in her chair along side the Travenor machine giving her life. She was happy to be near home.

"I don't have to go over the Poplar Street Bridge anymore," she said. "This also gives my daughter, Paulette, a break. For 13 years, she's been doing this—all the time. She had to get up at four o'clock in the morning to get me over to St. Louis by six so she could get to work on time. I used to get up at 4 a.m. too, but now I don't have to get up until 5:30."

Paul, her husband, takes her to and from SEMC now. It saves both time and trouble.

"My husband told me the other day that he felt like a big burden was lifted off his shoulders," Derossett said. "He said he felt free."

Although distance has changed, her weekly visits have not. She still has to be on hemodialysis every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. Nonetheless, you won't ever catch her complaining about that aspect. On this particular day, she already had been on dialysis for two hours.

"I usually take a nap," she said, explaining how she spends some of her time while getting treatment. "I bring my radio and listen to it. Either that, or I read a book or talk with the other patients."

Right now, Derossett is the only patient in the 12-station unit at SEMC. The medical center is beginning with six machines and will gradually build up to 12. Already, about 20 people have signed up for treatment and are on a waiting list.

"A lot of them are anxious," Wilson said. "I don't want them to get discouraged, but we are waiting for state approval before accepting any more patients."

Derossett said, "This is going to be a wonderful thing for people in Granite City and for other people who live over here, because there are so many people that go across the river to other hospitals. I'm sure they feel like I do: The closer to home, the better."

Small firms favor state income tax cut

Lower state income tax rates and the elimination of mandatory parental leave for employees are two of the key issues facing Illinois small business, according to a survey published by the state's largest small-business organization.

The National Federation of Independent Business polled its 16,000 Illinois members on these and other topics to determine its platform for the 1987 legislative session.

John R. Davis, director of governmental relations for NFIB/Illinois, said 75 percent of the members polled are in favor of the state reducing its income tax rate.

"While federal income tax reform has reduced overall tax rates, it has also eliminated many of the items which were deductible," Davis said. "Since Illinois bases income tax liability on federally-adjusted income, many companies may pay more in taxes in 1987."

"If state income tax rates remain the same, the state will receive a windfall increase in revenue. We feel that the revenue should be passed back to taxpayers through a reduction in state income tax rates."

The poll revealed that 87 percent of the state's small businesses are opposed to legislation which would guarantee mothers and fathers 18 weeks of unpaid leave to care for a new child or a seriously ill child or parent. The legislation also would require the employer to continue the employee's benefits and guarantee the same or similar position at the end of the leave.

"Parental leave is just another attempt by government to mandate a benefit that is unrelated to an employer's ability to provide the benefit," Davis said. "For many small firms, the loss of an employee for 18 weeks could be devastating, not to mention the added expense from providing full medical benefits, while picking up the tab for a temporary employee."

"With a four- or five-person company, such a practice simply isn't feasible," Davis said. Illinois businesses also voiced a strong opinion about reducing extended benefits for unemployment compensation. Sixty-seven percent support the state reducing its share of extended benefit costs if the federal government is forced to reduce jobless benefits.

McPike resurrects bill to form development agency

SPRINGFIELD — Legislation to create a Southwestern Illinois Development Authority to promote economic development in Madison and St. Clair counties was reintroduced by Rep. Jim McPike, D-Alton, Feb. 25.

The new bill is identical to one Majority Leader McPike sponsored last year that he shelved because of disagreements among St. Clair County politicians.

Gov. James Thompson called for passage of the legislation in his "state of the state" speech for 1987, saying, "Turf battles must be put aside."

Thompson's chief of staff, Jim Reilly, said the governor planned to meet with Madison and St. Clair County officials in the next few months to try to get their united support for the development authority.

Thompson's deputy governor in Chicago, Jerry Blakemore, has also been meeting with St. Clair officials, such as Rep. Wyvetter Young, D-East St. Louis, who had problems with the bill last year.

The authority would have power to issue state-backed revenue bonds to finance a wide range of industrial, commercial and recreational projects.

The authority would not have any direct taxing powers but local governments within the two-county area would be authorized to levy property taxes to support authority projects if they wished to do so.

Local governments would have 45 days to disapprove any project proposed in their jurisdiction by the authority.

Reilly said development of the East St. Louis riverfront would likely be one of the major goals of the authority.

Administration officials also suggested the authority could be used as a means of financing a proposed marina at the site of the present Locks and Dam 26 at Alton after the new dam is finished.

The original impetus for the authority last year came from proposals to build a new domed stadium in Illinois for the St. Louis football Cardinals and a major international auto raceway. Both projects are on hold now for lack of interest by either the Cardinals or the owners of several major raceways which had been looking at the area.

The authority would be run by an 11-member board composed of the directors of three state agencies appointed by the governor, four public members from the area appointed by the governor, and four public members appointed jointly by the Madison and St. Clair county board chairmen.

Cruise group study ends

The cruise industry has identified three target markets for future passengers: consumers between 25 and 39, people with children between 2 and 18, and singles. This is one of many conclusions of a major study of the cruise market commissioned by Cruise Lines International Association (CLIA).

According to the study, conducted by an independent research firm, cruises demonstrate the highest degree of satisfaction and interest levels of all vacation types for all demographic groups.

People between 25 and 39 who have taken cruises express as much satisfaction with the experience as those in higher age categories and rank highest of all age categories in their interest in taking a cruise in the future. Findings were similar for people with children, whether or not they plan to travel with them.

According to the study's findings, there are more than 28 million potential cruise passengers who have expressed a positive interest in taking a cruise. The interest cuts across all types of travelers.

The study also found that in addition to younger adults and families, males, singles and consumers in the low- to mid-income ranges take cruises and have a strong desire to take cruise vacations in the future.

"People in the industry have known all along that cruises really are for everyone," according to James G. Godson, president of CLIA, "and our latest statistics really confirm this fact." Single respondents expressed as much interest in taking a cruise as did their married counterparts. In fact, their degree of interest was higher than those who are married.

Individual cruise lines are as varied as the passengers that vacation on the high seas," according to James R. Sullivan, chairman of CLIA's marketing committee. "Some ships provide a formal atmosphere while others are more festive."

Fares run the gamut from very inexpensive to expensive. There are theme cruises geared to attract passengers with the same tastes and interests and itineraries that call on every port in the world.

Bethel plans initiations

Honored Queen Melanie Paschedag, under the direction of Bethel Guardian Charlotte Root and Associate Bethel Guardian Ralph Baker, presided at the Feb. 24 meeting of Bethel 43.

A new ballot for membership was received and it was announced that initiation will be held at the meeting on March 24, with three new members to be initiated.

A letter from the grand representative from Wisconsin reporting on fun activities and money-making projects. Tracy Rich volunteered to answer the letter.

The official visit to Belleville will be held on March 7 at 1 p.m. and the honored queen and several members will be attending along with Mrs. Root and Bethel Secretary Barbara Barr.

An investigating committee of Melissa Lynch, LaVona Leonasio and April Marsh was appointed to interview a prospective member.

A discussion was held concerning the grand session in April in Peoria, with almost all members planning to attend. Plans are for Bethel 43 to leave early Thursday morning, Apr. 23.

Reports were given by Cori Elmore and Christy Dawson on the DeMolay Valentine dance in Wood River; some of the girls attended.

A request was made that the Bethel 43 members help serve at the Eastern Star Granite Chapter 650 chicken dinner to be held at the Masonic Temple Sunday, March 8, from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. After the meeting, refreshments were served in the reception hall.

Butterfly Club honors member

A luncheon at the Olive Garden Restaurant in St. Louis was attended by members of the Butterfly Card Club. They then returned to the home of Juanita Rosenburg for dessert and pinocle games.

Prizes were won by Thelma Schmidt, Hazel Rollins, Edith Ryan, Ilene Willis and Lorraine McIlvane. Also present were Katie Hommert and Neil Talley.

Mrs. Ryan was honored on her February birthday and Mrs. Willis presented each one with a necklace she bought while visiting in Hawaii.

Harriet Hoff will host the March meeting.

Mt. Zion Baptist hears missionaries

Mount Zion General Baptist Church had as the guest speakers for the Sunday morning worship service Darlene and Gary Underwood, foreign missionaries from the Philippines who are in the United States on furlough. Mount Zion is one of their supporting churches.

Pastor Mark Powell welcomed all members and guests. It being the first Sunday in the month, all the children gathered at the pulpit as the pastor explained the meaning of church and Sunday school.

Slides were shown of the work in the missionary field and many crafts were on display, made by the Mt. Zion teenagers.

Following the morning worship all ladies of the church enjoyed a salad luncheon in the fellowship hall and honored Mrs. Kimberly Powell and Mrs. Underwood with a cradle shower.

The table was decorated in yellow and white. Games were played and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Hook and Mrs. Miller.

Miss Tracy Phelps was crowned homecoming queen of the Christian Gateway academy. Mount Zion teenagers enjoyed a lock-in during the weekend.

YOUNG Audiences, of St. Louis, performed recently at Frohardt grade school.

Frohardt pupils see opera scenes

The St. Louis Chapter of Young Audiences Inc. was a guest of Frohardt Elementary School. The program "Opera Magic" was presented by the group. It was designed to help students discover the basic ingredients of opera.

The story, singing, acting, costumes, props and instruments were explored during the program through the presentation of arias and duets by composers such as Mozart, Humperdinck and Menotti.

With student participation, the performers played out scenes from Mozart's "The Magic Flute," Witches' Aria from "Hansel and Gretel" and Britten's "Let's Make an Opera."

The performers were Karen Goelner, Victor Janette, Diane Ceccarini and Susan McDuffee.

Sheila E delivers with a 'Prince' of an album

What one thinks of Sheila E's self-titled third album will have a lot to do with how one feels about the music of Prince.

When Sheila E debuted with "The Glamorous Life," her sound had many marked differences from Prince's. This occurred despite the fact Prince produced "The Glamorous Life." But the follow-up album, "Romance 1000" and now "Sheila E.," though both mainly self-produced, have moved her closer to mimicking Prince.

That isn't to say Sheila E. has grown entirely into Prince's twin sister. She still has a number of distinguishing characteristics, such as the touches of salsa, jazz and rap sprinkled on several of the songs on "Sheila E."

And like Prince, romance and sex rate high in Sheila E.'s list of lyrical priorities.

The good news, however is many of the songs on "Sheila E." generate considerable heat. On the down side, there is nothing quite as striking as her hit single "The Glamorous Life," either. Los Lobos By The Light Of The Moon Slash Records 1-25322

It's too soon to be bestowing any best album of 1987 honors, but expect Los Lobos' "By The Light Of The Moon" to find itself near the top of many top 10 lists at year's end.

What is clear is the band has erased any doubts its 1984 album "How Will The Wolf Survive" was a fluke. That album stood along with Bruce Springsteen's "Born In The U.S.A." as that year's best.

That's a tough act to follow, for sure, but if anything, Los Lobos has even improved upon that effort. There's not a weak cut here as the band deftly mines a range of rootsy rock styles.

Guitarist Cesar Rosas provides the punch with some tough bluesy rockers such as "Shakin' Shakin' Shakes" (a song co-written by co-producer T-Bone Burnett that's already made radio and MTV playlists) and "My Baby's Gone."

Guitarist David Hidalgo and drummer Louis Perez contribute the more deliberate and pop-oriented songs. "Is That All There Is? Izzy" with its memorable saxophone lines, and "Tears Of God," a sweet ballad with a soulful mid-song tempo change, are among the better Hidalgo-Perez compositions.

The words of the album are hardly as uplifting as the music, however. The album is filled with tales of broken dreams and despair. Only "Tears Of God," which closes the album, carries a sense of optimism. In that song, Los Lobos offers this answer to the type of troubles they've spent the album pondering: "The tears of God will show you the way."

Redbone's music fits no package

Leon Redbone is a dyed-in-the-wool American folklorist handing down to posterity a body of popular music from the early days of electronic recording, and something of a mumbly comedian crooner who sings beer jingles in a white linen suit and a Panama hat.

But he takes his work seriously.

What he does hasn't changed very much since 1975, when Warner Brothers released his first LP, "On The Tracks." Five albums, three labels and a dozen years later, Redbone is still drawing popular American tunes.

"My interest is in early American recordings," Redbone told the Journal recently. "There's only a few things that I do that weren't recorded in the early days of American records. But that covers anything from pop tunes to blues and the obscure country recordings."

"The kind of music I perform was very much a part of the entertainment of the 'teens' (1910-1920). A lot of these tunes are what you might have heard in a minstrel show of that time."

"I really haven't strayed too far from what I'm familiar with. And what I'm familiar with is early American recorded music."

His latest album, "Red to Blue," released last year on August records, contains a typical Redbone brew. There is a cover of Hank Williams' "Love Sick Blues," Walter Donaldson's "Reaching For Someone and Not Finding Anyone There," and Bob Dylan's "Living on the Blues."

Redbone will appear with a three-piece orchestra at the Westport Playhouse at 8 p.m. Saturday, March 14. Tickets, $14, are available at Ticketmaster locations, the Westport box office, or by calling Dialtix at 314-421-1400.

Around the kitchen

Fishing invitation puts cook in school

There is no finer late-winter reading than a Tale of Two Fishes. It is too early to hang a sign that says, "Gone Fishing." However, a desire for light flavors and a season where people observe meatless fare brings out a welcome mat for an old favorite.

The St. Louis area has never been known as a fish capital of the world, but home and restaurant kitchens are becoming more knowledgeable and adventurous in their taste for fish. Elaine Ricketts moved here from Chicago and became a staff home economist for the St. Louis District Dairy Council. She says her former home "simply had more fish than there is here."

She ought to know because she worked for Burhop's Fish Market, a family company which expanded from selling fish to offering demonstrations and classes in its own kitchens.

"When buying fresh fish, deal with someone who is reputable," she says. "The fish may actually have been caught within two or three days of purchase and will stay in your refrigerator for four or five days. If you buy fish store it in the coldest part of your refrigerator, which usually is on the bottom shelf, rather than your meat tray."

Once the fish comes home, it should be rinsed before storing in fresh airtight wrap. She suggests freezer paper, or plastic wrap with an overwrap of foil. This allows it to be stored in the freezer, too.

"Fish oil is fat, has a lot of nutrients in it," says Ricketts. "It smells and also accumulates on the fish and when you buy fish that has been wrapped in plastic, oils have no place to go. This is why it is necessary to rinse the fish and get rid of the original wrap. It is not necessarily so that you bought bad fish."

Fresh fish can be kept no more than a month in a frost-free freezer before drying out. A deep freeze without the drying effect means a safe period of about six months, she estimates. She prefers to cook shellfish before freezing it.

"Preparation of fish is often more important than the fish itself," she says. "Fish is done when it is opaque throughout, not translucent. And it should be flaky. Because fish has so little fat and so much protein, heat transfers very quickly. So fish is something you can take away from heat before it is done and it will continue cooking."

Ricketts cites the 10-minute rule for cooking fish: No matter how it is cooked, allow 10 minutes per inch of thickness at 400° to 450°. The time is the total allowed, not just cooking time on one side.

When deciding what to buy at a fish case, it is important to know a few cutting terms. Fillet means boneless. When people are afraid of bones, they might ask for a tail cut, advises Ricketts. A steak is a cross-section at the rib cage, meaning it contains a backbone, as well as pinbones. To detect scales, rub a hand against the raw fish. A strawberry huller will pick them out.

The fish specialist recites a litany of fresh fish which make eating it far from a penance. If people don't know what else to buy, they often select scrod. Although whitefish is a specialty of northern Lake Superior, many people refer to scrod as whitefish. Pollack, like scrod, is a cod. It usually goes into seafood sticks, which are crab-flavored and called surimi. Cod varieties need to be baked, not grilled, because they flake easily.

She lists grouper as a mild fish that can be grilled because it is firm. Because it is a thick, meaty fish, hold it up against the light to detect parasites. If cooked properly, parasites in fish will be killed.

Walleye pike also is mild, usually sold whole. Ricketts suggests asking that it be filleted, or it can be baked whole.

Sole, part of the flounder family, and trout are old standbys, while orange roughly has become a mild-fish lover's delight.

Among the biggest sellers in markets today is catfish. There are 28 species swimming in North American waters. Retailers appreciate them because, now that they are raised in ponds, rather than coming from natural streams, the supply is predictable for its number, freshness, taste and sizes.

Concerning fish with stronger flavor, Ricketts has a reminder that both swordfish and shark

Markets love fish stories

Markets love to see their big fish get away—to the tables of customers. While local fish markets have their devotees, even chain supermarkets that are very small in size display wondrous fresh catches.

Joe Bertel, supervisor in charge of delis and seafood, says National Super Markets had seven seafood shops little more than a year ago. Between January and August they added eight more. Now, with the acquisition of some Kroger stores, they have another nine to oversee.

Bob Crawford, seafood merchandising manager for Dierbergs, says, "The customer is reflecting deeper knowledge of fish. There is all kinds of information there and a real strong effort to learn more about it, especially the nutritional impact it may have on the family."

However, he says, the consumer may not understand the pricing of fish. Unlike canned items that come off the assembly line in uniform portions, there are no contracts on fresh fish. The key is product availability, depending on the weather in the North Atlantic, the West Coast, perhaps near Oregon, or even on the tip of South America.

Frozen fish actually may show better stabilization due to known quantities. Shrimp, notes Crawford, has become a year-round item, while other seafoods are startlingly cleaner than they were before they were bred in a controlled environment.

Ed Meyer, manager of deli seafood buying and merchandising for Schnucks, says today's meatier catfish that is pond-raised makes it a plentiful item in the fish market. Sold whole, filleted and as nuggets, it is in high demand.

In the weeks ahead he also suggests looking for cod, flounder, sole, Boston blue, as well as grouper, buffalo carp, swordfish and shark steak.

"One item caught me off guard when we served it at the V.P. Fair was the shark steak," he says. "Once people were exposed to that, the recent sales have been amazing."

Orange roughly from New Zealand continues to be a favorite from the freezer case. Schnucks is bringing out the sockeye salmon it froze fresh last summer.

New in the freezer this spring will be frozen breaded fish prepared specifically for cooking in a microwave oven.

"Surimi is one other item going crazy," says Meyer. "It's imitation aburatsubo and good in salads, soups, pastas, chowders, appetizers. We offer it in the deli in our capsule and shrimp and crab salads, which lots of people make at home, too."

Girl Scouts get Gold Award, highest honor for members

Since its inception in 1980, 25 girls from River Bluffs Council have received the "Gold Award," Girl Scouting's highest honor. This award usually requires more than a year to complete and is designed for girls 14 years of age and older.

This element of the Girl Scout program challenges high school-age girls to excel in leadership, service, and self-development. It teaches them concepts of goal setting, planning, commitment and responsibility through a special "Challenge of Living the Promise and Law" service project which the girls must develop, design and carry out themselves.

The girls must complete interest projects designed to promote growth and knowledge in areas such as business and technology, cultures and global relations, energy conservation, personal well-being, the arts, and the outdoors. They must also satisfy career exploration requirements and must spend at least 25 hours in a leadership role.

Service projects completed by girls in River Bluffs Council have included blood drives, site beautification at Scott Air Force Base, providing events for young people, assisting emergency personnel with address identification, and improvements at council camps, among others. Girl Scout Gold Award recipients are required to continue involvement in the project for at least another year after the "Challenge" is earned.

River Bluffs Council of Girl Scouts takes great pride in those girls who have earned and are working on the Girl Scout Gold Award.

In addition to the Gold Award, Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. takes special pride in offering a lifetime membership in the world's largest voluntary organization for girls. Lifetime membership is a symbol of commitment to the beliefs and principles of the Girl Scout Movement.

It is for adults actively involved in Girl Scouting within a council or with the national organization.

Fishing

meat hold a high concentration of uric acid, so it is best to release this acidity by soaking in milk a few hours. Both are good for grilling and often come sliced one-inch thick, so timing is reliable.

She likes to marinate them before grilling in Italian dressing that has a heavy oil content up to four hours, or overnight in the refrigerator.

Salmon is a versatile fish that is good for experimenting.

"Given you don't overcook any kind of fish, go for a method of preparation you like. Make it so it is easy to clean up," she says.

Here are some of her suggestions for preparing fish:

"When baking fish, use a heavy pan, rather than a cookie sheet, to avoid bending at the high temperature. A cast iron skillet works well. Lay fish on a piece of foil buttered lightly for quick clean-up.

"When trying to serve low-calorie, poach fish in a little water with a few herbs. To allow more calories, use milk or wine.

"The combination of lemon and fish is very appealing. Because some fish is bland, lemon has a way of perkling it up.

"Because of the intensity of heat when broiling, it is important to remove fish before it finishes cooking. Again, use a heavy pan.

"When microwaving, make sure the thinnest part of the fish is toward the center. Check the oven manufacturer's instructions for best timing. Be sure to turn the dish to cook the fish evenly.

"When sauteing or frying, the oil or butter must be hot before adding the fish or it will absorb the fat instead of cooking quickly. For a delicious combination, rinse the fish, pat it dry and dredge in flour, saute it only one or two minutes on each side, then bake it to finish cooking.

"Always use the liquid from the cooking pan as a sauce, for simplicity in combination with a pat of butter, dash of lemon juice or bit of cream. When poaching tender fish, wrap it in cheese-cloth or use a long spatula to hold it together.

"Steam mussels and clams in a little bit of liquid. They do not need to be immersed. Mussels, many now farm-raised, are cleaner than old varieties.

"Do not overcook shellfish. To prepare shrimp, bring 3 cans of beer, the juice of 1/2 lemon, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 1 bay leaf and 2 cloves of bouquet garni of choice—to a boil.

Put a tight-fitting lid on the shrimp in this mixture and turn off the heat. Let it sit one minute, then cool down the shrimp under very cold water.

"The following recipes represent a wide variety of cooking styles, all of which sing "Almost Spring." Oven Crusty Fish, Pan-Fried Orange Roughy a la Orange and Spring Halibut Baked with Asparagus and Ginger-Lime Sauce are from Burhop's kitchens, while Microwave Bacon Surimi Seafood Wrap and Baked Swordfish with Dill Sauce were developed at the National Fisheries Institute.

Oven crusty fish

2 lb. fresh or thawed fish fillets, such as flounder, sole, haddock, halibut, scrod or grouper

- 1 egg
- 1 tsp. water
- 1 tsp. pepper sauce
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 cup cornflake crumbs
- 2 tsp. melted butter
- Lemon wedges

Combine egg, water, pepper sauce and salt. Mix well. Dip fish into egg mixture, then coat generously with cornflake crumbs. Place on oiled, foil-lined baking sheet. Drizzle with melted butter. Bake about 10 minutes at 425° for each inch of thickness of fish.

Serve with lemon wedges. Serves 4.

Pan-fried orange roughy a la orange

4 (6 to 8 oz. each) orange roughy fillets, completely thawed

- 1 to 2 oranges, thinly sliced and peeled
- 1/2 tsp. drained orange rind (zest)
- 1/2 cup freshly squeezed orange juice
- 1/2 tsp. chopped fresh parsley
- 6 tsp. whole butter
- Clarified butter
- Flour

Pat fillets dry with paper towels. Heat clarified butter to point of smoking in large saute pan. Lightly dredge fillets in flour. Place in hot butter, making sure to shake pan periodically to inhibit sticking. Pan-fry 4 to 6 minutes, turning once.

While fish is cooking, arrange orange slices on surface of serving platter. Place pan-fried fish on oranges. Keep warm.

Wipe any burnt residue from saute pan with clean rag. Heat pan and add whole butter. When butter is melted and foaming, quickly add zest, parsley and orange juice.

Pour sauce over fish. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

Microwave bacon surimi seafood wraps

4 to 6 oz. surimi seafood, crab flavored, leg style, cut in 1 1/2 inch chunks

- 6 slices bacon, cut in half crosswise
- 1 tsp. apricot preserves
- 2 tsp. finely chopped fresh ginger root or tsp. ground ginger

Place bacon between paper towels on 2 paper plates. Microwave each plate at high 3 minutes or until bacon is almost cooked.

Combine apricot preserves and ginger. Spread bacon lightly with mixture. Wrap surimi chunks in bacon, coated-side in. Secure each with wooden pick. Arrange on 2 paper-towel lined plates. Cover with paper towels. Microwave one plate at a time at high 30 seconds or just until surimi seafood is hot and bacon is cooked. Serve hot.

Makes 16 hors d'oeuvres. Recipe can be doubled.

Note: If bacon is very lean, partially cooked bacon can be cut in half lengthwise and each narrow strip used to wrap around chunk of Surimi Seafood.

Baked swordfish with dill sauce

- 4 (6 to 8 oz. each) swordfish steaks
- Salt
- White pepper
- 1 tsp. oil
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- Dill sauce
- 1 Poached shrimp and scallop garnish, if desired
- Dill sprigs for garnish, if desired

Pat fish dry with paper towels. Season lightly with salt and white pepper.

Combine oil and lemon juice. Brush on both sides of steaks. Place 1 inch apart in lightly oiled baking dish.

Bake at 450°, allowing 10 minutes per inch thickness measured at thickest part or just until fish flakes when tested with fork.

Transfer fish to warm plates. Spoon Dill Sauce over fish. Arrange Poached Shrimp and Scallop Garnish and dill sprigs on plates. Serve hot.

Yields 4 servings.

- Dill sauce
- 1/2 cup dairy sour cream
- 1/2 cup plain yogurt
- 2 tsp. mayonnaise
- 2 tsp. minced fresh or 1/2 tsp. dried dill
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- Dash pepper sauce
- Salt and pepper

Combine sour cream, yogurt, mayonnaise, dill, mustard and pepper sauce. Add salt and pepper to taste. Blend well. Allow to stand at least 30 minutes to blend flavors or refrigerate up to 24 hours. Serve at room temperature.

Yields about 1 cup.

Poached shrimp and scallop garnish: Bring 2 cups water to a boil. Add 1/2 lemon, sliced, a few peppercorns and a dash salt. Reduce heat. Simmer 5 minutes. Add peeled and deveined medium shrimp. Simmer 2 to 4 minutes or just until shrimp are pink, firm and cooked throughout. Remove from liquid with slotted spoon.

Add scallops to poaching liquid. Simmer 1 1/2 to 3 minutes or until scallops become firm and opaque and are cooked throughout. Drain.

Garnish swordfish with hot shrimp and scallops. Reheat in simmering liquid if necessary.

Spring halibut baked with asparagus and ginger-lime sauce

1 1/2 to 2 lb. fresh halibut steaks

- 1 cup dry white wine
- 2 tsp. freshly squeezed lime juice
- 2 tsp. minced shallot
- 12 stalks asparagus, trimmed
- 1/2 cup whipping cream
- 3 tsp. Ginger-Lime Butter
- Time zest, carrot curls, lime wheels for garnish

Ginger-Lime Butter: Combine 3 tablespoons butter with sprinkling of crushed fresh ginger root and zest from lime. Chill.

Place halibut in lightly buttered, shallow oven-proof casserole. Sprinkle with shallots. Combine wine and lime juice. Pour over fish. Bake 15 minutes at 450°.

While fish cooks, blanch asparagus by plunging into boiling water and simmering 6 to 7 minutes. Drain. Set aside.

Remove cooked fish from casserole. Pour cooking juices into saucepan. Place pan over high heat and reduce the liquids.

Remove skin and center bone from fish. Top with asparagus. Pour any accumulated juices in with other liquids. Cook cooked fish and set in warm spot.

When reducing liquid is down to 2 tablespoons, add cream and reduce by half. Swirl in the chilled ginger-lime butter.

Pour sauce over halibut and asparagus, garnish with zest, carrot curls and lime wheels.

Jambalaya offers feast befitting a king

Chicken is a food at the top of the hit parade. Because it is served often these days, there always is an eagle-eye on the lookout to find more good recipes for using it.

Jambalaya is a recipe that is worth the investment of time and money to prepare. Quite simply, it tastes good. The trick in getting a good flavor is to simmer the chicken in a well-seasoned liquid until it is tender and tasty.

Another side of promoting economy is to serve the chicken over another food that is easy on the pocketbook. Rice is one good possibility. It costs just about four cents per half-cup serving and makes a perfect setting for a saucy entree. Rice does not have a strong flavor of its own, but readily takes on the flavor of the topping because it is able to absorb liquids.

Often Jambalaya requires a kitchen full of seldom-used ingredients, but this one is easy on the grocery list, the cook and the budget.

Jambalaya

2 lb. boneless chicken pieces (see Note)

1/2 cup salt, black pepper and paprika

1/2 cup oil

2 cups sliced celery

2 cups sliced green onions, including tops

1 cup chopped green bell pepper

1 cup rice, uncooked

2 cups boiling chicken broth

1 tsp. salt

1/2 cup garlic, minced

1/2 tsp. red pepper

Season chicken with salt, black pepper and paprika. Brown on all sides in oil in large oven-proof skillet or Dutch oven.

Remove chicken. Set aside.

Pour off all but 2 tablespoons drippings. Add celery, onions and green peppers to skillet. Cook until tender.

Stir in rice, broth, salt, garlic, 1/4 teaspoon black pepper and red pepper. Return chicken to pan. Cover and bake at 375° for 30 minutes or until chicken is tender.

Fluff with fork. Serve with bottled pepper sauce, if desired.

Chili an old heart warmer

The prevalence of chili contests, chili cookbooks and chili selections on restaurant menus proves there is more than one way to make great chili.

Another chili-plus is that it is just plain easy. Simply combine the beef, onion, celery, chili powder and tomatoes. Simmer the corn separately and stir in green chiles for spice and color. Adjust the spice level by changing the amount of chiles.

To serve the chili, spoon the beef mixture into a shallow bowl or serving platter and arrange the corn mixture to form a ring.

on top. Serve with a salad for all seasons.

1/2 cup water
1/2 (16 oz.) pkg. (2 cups) frozen
white shoe peg corn
1 (4 oz.) can chopped green chilies drained (See Note)
Tomato wedges, if desired

ground beef with onion and celery. Drain.

Stir in chili powder, tomatoes and tomato sauce. Simmer until thoroughly heated, stirring occa-

In small saucepan, bring water to boil. Add corn. Bring to second boil. Stir. Cover and reduce heat. Simmer 3 to 5 minutes or to desired tenderness.

To serve, spoon beef mixture into shallow bowl or onto serving platter with rim. Spoon corn mixture to form ring around top of beef mixture. Garnish with tomato wedges, if desired.

Tax increases urged, opposed

By Bill Winter
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — "Ending of tax breaks and revenue exemptions will be given serious study, but not the kind of tax increases recommended," State Rep. Sam Wolf said Friday in response to the governor's 1987 budget message.

Gov. James R. Thompson said March 4 he wants to increase the state income tax from 2.5 to 3 percent, the state gasoline tax from 13 to 18 cents a gallon, and vehicle license fees from $48 to $65.

Proposing a 7.7 percent budget increase to $22.1 billion for the fiscal year that will begin July 1, Thompson called for broadening the state sales tax to include personal, repair, entertainment and business services, including car repairs and drycleaning. He also urged imposing the sales tax on computer software and non-prescription drugs.

Wolf, a Granite City Democrat, said the Republican governor went too far in his budget-balancing proposals. Among the items the legislator opposes is a bigger gasoline tax, which Wolf said would be especially harmful in state border areas like Metro East.

House Majority Leader Jim

McPike, Alton Democrat, said, "The governor has asked for too much, but that is probably part of his bargaining strategy."

McPike said he could not support gas tax and license fee increases unless the state guarantees it will build a highway linking Interstate 270 near Granite City to the Godfrey area. He said the four-lane route should be made ready for traffic by 1993.

The Illinois Democratic Party chairman, State Sen. Vince Demuzio, Carlinville, said the governor's plan is "awesome in its enormity." He opposed "asking taxpayers for $1.5 billion in new revenue."

He agreed there is a need for more state revenue and said a compromise is possible. But it would have to include lower property taxes, Demuzio said.

State Education Superintendent Ted Sanders praised Thompson's "courageous stand in support of tax increases" but said the proposed budget falls far short of the state's commitment to the education improvement program adopted in 1985.

Sanders said, "The $300 million increase he recommends is not nearly enough to meet the pressing needs of our schools. The governor's education budget moves us forward on reform, but at the expense of programs for the handicapped, gifted, limited-English-speaking, vocational students, illiterate adults and retirement."

Thompson proposed cutting the state sales tax from 5 to 4.5 cents in January 1989. In the meantime, a family of four earning $25,000 a year would pay an extra $189 annually to support the state government if his tax plans were enacted.

The governor sees it as "revenue-positive tax reform that is neither unfair nor radical." He said it would provide local governments with an extra $500 million in new revenues over the next two years, more than replacing their lost federal revenue sharing funds.

Thompson asked the General Assembly to increase the personal income tax July 1 and expand the sales tax to services effective Jan. 1, 1989. He proposed increasing the personal exemption on the income tax from $1,000 to $1,250 in January and to $1,500 on Jan. 1, 1989.

Claiming his new budget is balanced, for the 11th successive year, the governor said it would help 200 cities repair and expand wastewater treatment and would maintain an aggressive program of highway construction and rehabilitation.

Thompson said the 1987-88 budget proposal can "support the level of services Illinoisans deserve and demand, and which will keep this state competitive with the rest of the nation."

Fund requests reviewed by DOC

Sixty-two applications from local government units seeking federal and state grants for outdoor recreation projects were evaluated by the Conservation Department's advisory board.

Projects recommended by the board for funding were referred to Conservation Director Mark Frech for final review and approval. Grant recipients are expected to be announced later this spring.

Government units eligible for the grant awards include park districts, municipalities, counties, townships, forest preserves and conservation districts, recreational commissions and other tax-exempt agencies authorized under statute to provide public recreation facilities.

Among the applications were 20 seeking a total of more than $3.7 million in grants for land acquisition projects and 42 requesting a cumulative $4.4 million for development work. No more than $6.3 million in federal Land and Water Conservation Fund monies and state Open Space Land Acquisition and Development funding is expected to be available in Fiscal Year 1988 for financing the projects. The reimbursement grants provide up to 50 percent of a government unit's project costs.

Included in the anticipated $6.3 million in available grant funding is $5 million from the OSLAD program and $1.3 million from the Land and Water Conservation Fund. However, the OSLAD amount represents only the Conservation Department's FY 1988 OSLAD appropriation request, and that request has not yet been approved by the State Legislature.

Land and Water Conservation Fund revenues are derived from federal fees on off-shore oil drilling, while the OSLAD program is part of Governor James Thompson's Build Illinois initiative.

Zimmerman selected as Illinois Bell president

Frank R. Zimmerman, Ameritech senior vice president-corporate affairs, has been named president of Illinois Bell.

He succeeds Ormand J. Wade, who has been appointed president of the Ameritech Bell Group and a director of Ameritech. Wade will be responsible for Ameritech's Bell companies in Illinois Bell, Indiana Bell, Michigan Bell, Ohio Bell and Wisconsin Bell.

In announcing the changes, William L. Weiss, Ameritech chairman and chief executive officer, also named Louis J. Rutigliano, vice president-marketing for Illinois Bell, as president of Wisconsin Bell. Rutigliano succeeds Robert L. Barnett, who has been named president of the Ameritech Enterprise Group and a director of Ameritech.

"These top-officer realignments reflect the rapid pace of change in the communications industry and the growing importance of preparing for the 1990s," Weiss said. "Customer communications needs are becoming more sophisticated and we face keener competition than ever before in every facet of our business."

A. File it with your current employer.

Q. How soon do I have to have my W-4 filed?

A. It must be filed with your employer by Oct. 1, 1987; however, the Internal Revenue Service urges you to do it as soon as possible so that you have the correct amount of withholding at the end of the year. A revised form is to be issued in April.

Q. What does the W-4 look like and what do I give to my employer?

A. The new W-4 is a 4-page document which includes a worksheet, instructions, and the W-4 itself. Only the W-4 (lower third of front page) is filed. The revised form is a single sheet, with data on both sides.

Q. Will I be penalized if I get a refund?

A. No, there is no penalty for receiving a refund.

Q. Where can I get the W-4?
A. You can get the form from your employer or by calling the Internal Revenue Service toll-free at 1-800-424-3676 (FORM).

Shelter agent plans scholarship

This spring, a 1987 graduate of Granite City High School will receive a $750 scholarship from the Shelter Insurance Foundation. The award will be sponsored and partially funded by local Shelter agent Cheryl Crawford, who has participated in the scholarship program since 1984.

The recipient will be chosen by a committee of local high school officials and community leaders. The committee will consider each applicant's scholastic achievements, educational goals, citizenship, moral character, and participation and leadership in school and community activities. The scholarship will be given without regard to race, creed, religion, national origin, sex or employment status of applicants or their relatives. The name of the winner will be announced at the close of the school year.

Applications will be available in early March and should be completed and returned to the school official on the committee by March 31. For more information, interested seniors may contact their high school counselor, principal or Crawford.

Reilly appointed deputy governor

Gov. James R. Thompson has named James R. Reilly deputy governor. Jeffrey C. Miller will succeed Reilly as chief of staff. Reilly's salary will remain at $75,679.

He will oversee policy formulation, including development of the annual budget, and take the lead in legislative negotiations on the major items in the administration's legislative package.

Miller, director of the Office of Planning, will become chief of staff, coordinate the development of policy and fiscal matters, and oversee the execution of policy. His annual salary will be $73,483.

Jerry Blakemore, currently deputy governor, will become director of intergovernmental relations and coordinate relations between Illinois and other states, agencies and the federal government.

Ellen Craig, director of the Governor's Office of Citizens' Assistance and Consumer Affairs, will become deputy chief of staff in Chicago. Kathy Selcke will continue as deputy chief of staff in Springfield.

The program staff, reporting to Paula Wolff, director of program and policy, will be reorganized and upgraded. The staff works with state government agencies and external groups on a day-to-day basis, formulating policy and monitoring performance.

Under the reorganization, there will be eight program areas: Natural Resources, headed by Karen Webster; Human Services, Jess McDonald; Public Safety, Jim Williams; Economic Development, John Glennon; Education, Carl Lieberman; General Government, Eric Brenner; Office of Planning, Mary Ann Louderback; and Local Government and Transportation, to be named later.

Gayle Cozans, former director of Illinois' Washington office and currently executive assistant to the governor, will assume responsibility for directing the state's overall welfare reform and prevention efforts as head of a state government task force. The task force will base its agenda on efforts outlined by Thompson in his State of the State message.

Traces from 18th Century come to light

The earth where Cahokia stands is slowly giving up little treasures that reveal a lot about people who lived there many years ago.

An archeological study being conducted by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville in what was the earliest permanent French settlement in the Mississippi Valley has uncovered approximately 23,000 artifacts. More than 15,000 artifacts on the surface and 7,600 through excavation. Some date back to the 18th Century settlement.

The archeological exploration is at the site of a mission established in the spring of 1699 by missionaries from the Seminary of Foreign Missions in Quebec, Canada.

Imagine unearthing arrow points, glass trade beads and tiny metal ornaments that adorned the clothing of the Illini Indians who once lived in the area! Then imagine overturning earth that contains scores of pieces of articles that belonged to the French missionaries and traders who settled in the area. Items like the bowls of pipes carved from stone and fashioned from clay. If that isn't exciting enough, consider uncovering ceramic shards that are probably 1,000 years old. And those are just a few of the artifacts that have been recovered from the site.

Two phases of the study, which concentrates on four acres situated in the middle of Cahokia, have been completed. Director of the project is Bonnie Gums, member of the contract archeology staff.

The first phase of the study, begun last March, was commissioned by the Cahokia French Colonial Committee; the second by the Illinois Department of Transportation.

The first phase was a controlled surface collection, in which the ground was plowed and a surface search for artifacts was conducted. To make sure every square inch of the area was covered, a grid system consisting of 17-foot squares was employed at the site.

"We collected artifacts from each square. It took 570 bags," she said, smiling. "We gathered over 15,000 artifacts from the surface, without any digging."

A number of colored glass "trade" beads were found at the site, with black, white, and green being the predominant colors. Ms. Gums is appreciative of one of white beads which has blue stripes running through it.

"These were mainly produced in Amsterdam and Venice, as well as in other countries of Europe," she said, adding that they were probably brought to the area by French traders.

"Other artifacts include things we know belonged to the tribe of Indians living in the area."

The archeologists also found a number of metal "tinklers," little sheets of copper or brass rolled into triangular cones in such a way that strands of hair or leather things could be passed through them.

"They were used as clothing adornment," Ms. Gums said, adding that the "tinklers" jingled as the Indians moved.

Other finds include the Indians included copper or brass kettles of European origin. These were replaced by Indian pottery," she said. When the kettles were broken beyond repair, bits and pieces of them may have been used as tinklers, or as other ornaments, she said.

The second phase of study involved the excavation of an area approximately 6 by 130 feet, in an area where a heavy concentration of 18th Century artifacts had been found. In just that area alone, the archeologists have uncovered a portion of a basement or cellar of a house, a potpourri of a potpourri (post-on-sill) structure which dates to the late 18th or early 19th Centuries, Ms. Gums said. Post-on-sill construction consisted of placing upright logs on a limestone foundation.

Evidence of a second structure was also brought to light. "Another structure of poteaux-en-terre (post-in-ground) construction ... upright logs were placed into a dug-out wall trench and the areas in between the logs with mortar and limestone. These were the more common construction methods used in French Colonial architecture," she said. "Using early maps and land records of Cahokia, the actual occupants of these structures can be identified."

In addition, the excavation has revealed several other cultural features, including a limestone cluster which is thought to be some type of cooking facility, and a refuse pit. "The artifacts coming out of the pit do appear to date to the 18th Century," Ms. Gums said.

From the pit were taken bits of wood charcoal, broken clay pipes, and part of a flintlock gun. The excavations basically tell us that there are probably a lot more undisturbed archeological deposits out there on the Cahokia site," she said.

Artifacts dating from the French occupation include: broken bits of French faience ceramics; coarse earthenware ceramics; shards from hand-blown brantly bottle glass; gunflints; lead shot; building hardware; shell, bone and brass buttons; the frames from three mortar haps; a cast brass barrel spout; Kaolin clay pipes, predominantly manufactured and used in England and the Netherlands; lots of spoons and knives; and approximately 4,000 fragments of animal bone including deer, cow, pig, and wild bird.

"They were eating a lot of wild game, as well as the domesticated animals," Gums said.

One of the most unusual artifacts that has been found at the site has been a small brass religious medallion, which has been inscribed in it in French the equivalent of "Mary without sin, prays for you!"

"I am not sure how old it is. We know that church sermons were also still being conducted in French in the early 1900s, so it is probable that French religious items were also still being used into the 20th Century," she said, holding the ornament carefully up to the light.

Gums said the artifacts, which include prehistoric and protohistoric ceramics that may date from 1000 A.D. to the time of contact, as well as numerous 18th and early 20th Century artifacts, suggest that the site may have been occupied for at least 1,000 years.

New radio station to start in summer

A new AM radio station, with a transmitter near Edwardsville, is expected to be on the air this summer, said Robert Howe, one of the station's owners.

Howe and his partner, Nick Maggos, plan to begin construction of a 225-foot tower near the intersection of Illinois 143 and Interstate 55 east of Edwardsville this month.

Howe said the location of the station's studios remains indefinite.

Programming will place heavy emphasis on area news, and include music of the 1950s, 1960s and 1970s and some talk shows, said Howe.

He said the station's 500-watt signal should be received in Madison, St. Clair and part of Macoupin County in Illinois, the city of St. Louis and six or seven Missouri counties.

At the outset of operation, the station probably will broadcast only during daylight hours, Howe said.

Essay contest honors women

The Women's Program Committee of SIUE is sponsoring an essay contest "Honoring Women of Courage, Compassion and Conviction."

The contest is offered in conjunction with Women's Awareness Week at SIUE, a week-long event in April featuring lectures, programs and workshops in celebration of women's rights, growth and education.

Tracey Schmidt, adviser in the University Programming Office, said the competition is a "wonderful opportunity for interested students to express themselves in a meaningful, creative manner with the chance for recognition and an award."

All high school students and SIUE students enrolled for the spring quarter are eligible to enter the contest, which will be judged by faculty and staff members based on the originality, organization, and clarity of the entry.

One essay per person will be accepted, and the submission must be typed, double-spaced and approximately 500 words or less. Four copies of the essay should be attached to a completed entry form, and the applicant's name should appear on the entry form only.

The winning applicants, whose names will be announced Monday, April 6, will receive their awards at the American Association of University Women banquet scheduled Tuesday, April 14.

First, second and third-place finishers will receive $25, $15 and $10, respectively, and all participants will receive certificates of recognition.

Entries may be submitted to the Women's Program Committee of the University Programming Office, Box 1174, University Center—SIUE, Edwardsville, Ill. 62026-1174.

All entries must be received by 4:30 p.m. Monday, March 30. For further information or to obtain an entry form, 692-2617 may be called.

Laura Gilpin's photographs exhibited

A major retrospective of works by Laura Gilpin, one of the foremost photographers of the American West, opened at the St. Louis Art Museum Feb. 10. "An Enduring Grace: the Photographs of Laura Gilpin" features 70 prints and constitutes a major reassessment of Gilpin's 60-year career as commercial photographer, documentarian, and master of the platinum printing process.

She now is considered an important commentator on the geography of the Southwest and culture of its native people.

The photos will be on view in the Art Museum's Cohen Gallery through March 29. Gilpin's stores contributed to the exhibition.

Laura Gilpin, who lived from 1891 to 1978, first began making photographs at the age of 13 while visiting the St. Louis World's Fair. She attended the Clarence H. White School of Photography in New York from 1916 to 1918, concentrating on the principles of design with emphasis on commercial portraiture.

When she returned to her Colorado Springs home, she worked as a commercial photographer specializing in portraiture, illustration, and architectural work. It was during this time that she began to explore the geography of the Southwest and the culture of its native people.

Examples of both her commercial and personal photographs are included in this exhibition.

Gilpin is considered unique among women photographers of her era in her pursuit of landscape photography, a field pioneered and traditionally practiced by men. Unlike many of her male contemporaries who photographed the West as a place of inviolate, pristine beauty, she saw the land as an environment that shaped human activity.

A chance encounter with Navajo Indians on a camping trip in 1930 initiated 50 years of work with that tribe. Her photos of the Navajo, which constitute a highly subjective and personal record of Indian life, have acquired importance as historical documentation of a disappearing way of life.

In 1946 Gilpin moved to Santa Fe, where she continued to work until her death. During her lifetime, Gilpin wrote and illustrated four books, including The Rio Grande: River of Destiny and The Enduring Navajo.

Accompanying the exhibition is a 340-page monograph by exhibition organizer Martha A. Sandweiss, who is curator of photographs at the Amon Carter Museum.

Diet Pill System Sweeping U.S.

Super Dream Pill

Guaranteed Weight Loss

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH — An amazing new super Dream Pill System has recently been perfected that guarantees rapid weight loss.

Best of all, it allows you to eat your favorite foods while losing weight from the very first day until you achieve your ideal weight and figure.

The Dream Pill System features the extraordinary Dream Pill. The Dream Pill combines natural substances L-arginine, L-tyrosine and L-ornithine which can stimulate the body's production of growth hormone. Dr. Robert Harris, a specialist in nutritional medicine was recently quoted as explaining: "Growth Hormone" may be what's responsible for allowing teenagers to down thousands of calories in hamburgers and other foods and still be thin as a rail.

"Growth Hormone is present in people up through the teenage years, then slowly diminishes with age. But L-arginine and L-ornithine make the body think it belongs to a teenager again, allowing adults to eat as much as they want — and still be thin and wiry."

Life Extension Authors

Durk Pearson and Sandy Shaw, graduates of MIT and UCLA respectively, introduced these miracle substances to the public in their runaway best selling book, Life

Extension. They discovered the weight-loss effects by accident. Sandy fell and broke her foot and started taking L-arginine because of its well-known "healing" qualities. Much to her amazement Sandy lost 25 pounds of fat and put on 5 pounds of firm-toned muscle in six weeks. According to Durk's calculations, the pill caused Sandy to lose 400 times as much fat as she would otherwise have lost — without dieting!

Adamitis, Becker, DeRousse ready to play college soccer

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — It's not difficult picking out the three "most wanted" members of the 1986 Warriors soccer team. It's as easy as ABC.

Or at least A, B and D, as in Adamitis, Becker and DeRousse. Todd Adamitis, Steve Becker and Dave DeRousse were elected tri-captains at the beginning of last season, and they are the first of Gene Baker's team to announce their college plans.

Adamitis and DeRousse are a package deal, as they will both play at Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio, this season, while Becker will join a group of ex-Warriors at Western Illinois University.

Adamitis and DeRousse were the most decorated Warriors last year. They both received all-Southwestern Conference first team selection and made the all-Tournament of Champions team. They were also voted the team's co-most valuable players as Granite City fell one game short of reaching the state tournament.

The two fullbacks also received all-state honors, while Adamitis also was an All-American on the National Coaches Association team.

"Todd is a consummate recruiting package," Baker said. "He's an outstanding student, athlete and citizen. Todd will succeed."

Adamitis was the team's leading scorer last year, moving up from his fullback position to score nine goals despite playing with a bad ankle for much of the year. He was recruited by Western Illinois, Eastern Illinois, SIUE, West Point and Wright State, with the Raiders coming away the winner.

"We expect both Todd and Dave to step right in and be a factor this year," said Wright State coach Greg Andrulis. "I've seen them play about a dozen times, and not only are they good players, but they're good students and great kids."

The two complement each other perfectly, with Adamitis' offensive forays matched by DeRousse's stay-at-home style. After many years together, they should continue to be a dynamic duo in college.

"It's something that just happened, but I'm glad we'll be playing together," Adamitis said. "We got a lot of attention because of all the shutouts we had last year."

Adamitis is a two-year captain and a member of the National Honor Society. He is also recipient of the Elks Youth Award.

DeRousse is a three-year starter who was heavily recruited by Division I power Clemson. In fact, the Tigers were still willing to up their offer even after DeRousse verbally committed to Wright State, but he said he will stick with his decision. The players can officially sign in April.

DeRousse was Mr. Steady on the Warrior backline, with an uncanny ability to clear the ball out of danger in a split second. Not a spectacular player, he had only one goal last year. But he was one of the major reasons for Granite City's excellent defensive record.

"David is one of the few potential impact players in the entire St. Louis area," Baker said. "Personally, I wish to thank him for his dedication and leadership. It has been a pleasure to see him mature mentally, athletically and emotionally. Wright State is getting a good one."

Baker has some distant memories of DeRousse as an 8-year-old at a summer soccer camp.

"We called him Gerd Mueller," Baker said. "Mueller at the time was one of the better players in the world, and he was small but had these real big legs. David was kind of small then, but he had those real thick legs. But he developed over the years into a real good one."

Wright State is moving up to NCAA Division I status this year. They were 11-5-5 last season, but were unbeaten in their last eight games. Andrulis has young team and expects Adamitis and DeRousse to be a part of a lot of success in the next four years.

"We like our backs to be offensive-minded, and both of them can do that," he said. "I think it's a great thing for us. We had been to Granite City before, but hadn't had success in recruiting. But I've been at the Tournament of Champions the last four or five years, and I know the talent that comes out of the area. We're looking for big things."

COLLEGE BOUND: Warrior soccer players (left to right) Steve Becker, Dave DeRousse and Todd Adamitis announced their college plans last week. Becker is going to Western Illinois, while DeRousse and Adamitis will play at Wright State in Dayton, Ohio.

Becker had an injury-plagued senior season, but still found time to score five goals, including a spectacular effort in overtime against Alton in the regional championship game. He will join Joe Gray and Scott Biason as recruits at Western Illinois this year. Scott Grote is also with the team, while Barry Grote, John Menendez and Tony Segobiano were all seniors last season.

Becker, one of the smallest players on the field at all times, was like a buzzsaw as he pes-tered opposing players in the style of former SIUE and St. Louis Steamers star Jeff Cacciatore. He was an all-Tournament of Champions selection and was the team's most improved player as a junior.

"Steve has an outstanding work rate and is very aggressive and coachable," Baker said. "Western has a sleeper." Western was 14-4-1 last year. Becker said he was also recruited by Columbia College in Columbia, Mo., but wanted to join the Granite City connection in Macomb.

Recruits are allowed five paid visits to campus, and Adamitis and DeRousse flew to Wright State, while DeRousse also visited Clemson.

"I feel that Wright State is a promising school and has one of the fastest-growing programs in the country," Baker said. "They have had the top Division II basketball team in the country the last two years, and they have moved up to Division I in wrestling and soccer."

Up and down team disappointed Deterding

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — And so it all ended much like it did last year.

The Warrior basketball season finished with a convincing loss to the East St. Louis Lincoln Tigers in post-season action for the second year in a row. This time, the loss came in the opening game of the regionals, whereas last year's loss was in the sectional finals. So while this year's post-season joyride was derailed almost before it began, there were differences — both good and bad — from last year's 71-56 loss to the Tigers in the sectionals. Warrior coach Don Deterding felt the Warriors made a very good showing in the 77-56 defeat at East St. Louis last Tuesday, while he felt his team was embarrassed in last season's game. But while Deterding felt he had a lot to look forward to after the 1986 season ended, he's not so sure about the immediate future now.

Granite City finished with a 17-9 mark and this year's seniors accounted for 80 wins in their four years of basketball. It's a record unbroken in Granite City history. But the Warriors counted heavily on their five starters, ranked ninth in the area, and all five of them will be gone next year, including the "Big Three" of Tim Hogan, Jamie Hogan and Tom Hogan.

Deterding knows he will be

starting almost from scratch next year.

"We know it's going to be tough next season," he said. "We're losing a lot of talent, and we'll just have to replace them."

The top candidates to step into the starting lineup would be Mike A. Wilkinson, who saw a modest amount of playing time this season, and Kevin Sanders. But after that, Deterding had a junior varsity team that only won one game this season. "They showed vast improvement in their last game," Deterding said. "We'll just have to rebuild with what we have."

Meanwhile, Deterding was happy with the effort he got against the Tigers, who should win the Collinsville Sectional this week.

"I was happy with what we got, and I thought throughout the whole first half that we had a chance," Deterding said. "But they took charge and grabbed a 10-point lead in the third quarter."

Surprisingly, it was Taylor — Mr. Inside — who did the most damage against the massive Lincoln front line. He had 21 points, while the Hogans were held to a combined 10 points.

"Taylor accepted the challenge," Deterding said. "They spread their back people out wide and shut the Hogans down, and Tom did a good job against their big guys."

"But the big thing is I thought we were embarrassed down there last year. I think we did a much better job against them this time around."

But the thing that bothered Deterding this year was the inconsistency of his team. On some nights, they looked like world-beaters. On other nights, they looked like a team that could lose by 21 points to Cahokia, as they did Dec. 19.

"I never knew which team was going to show up," Deterding said. "But when you're a team that lives and dies by the outside shot, that can happen."

You're going to get burned. Tim Hogan's offense was down a little from last year, but he wasn't. Hogan's offense went up, but Eric Ryterski and Greg Lilley couldn't match the offense supplied by Gray and Chris Veizer last year.

"We had five players who would get in double figures every night," Deterding said of the 1985-86 team that went 25-4. "We didn't have the firepower to match that this season, and we weren't as consistent."

Deterding said there was no interest from college coaches in any of his players. Neither Jamie Hogan or Taylor had any offers, and some early interest in Tim Hogan had waned.

As for the rest of the season, Deterding said he might watch tonight's Lincoln-Collinsville game. "I hope Lincoln doesn't have a bad game," he said. "They have a good chance to go a long way. It's just so hard to get any rebounds against them. If they miss a shot, they just plant 'em. They'll win it until it goes in."

As for why the Warriors ended up in the same regional with the Tigers, Deterding said he didn't know the full story.

"There are a lot of stories going around," he said. "I'm sure some coaches were complaining, either from that regional or the one we used to play. But we knew what we had to do going in."

NOTES: As for Deterding, he has two more years before retirement. The school board officially approved his retirement effective in June 1989 at his last meeting.

Cougars flame out in regional final

By Gary King

OWENSBORO, Ky. — Like a race car that didn't make a pit stop, the SIUE Cougars' offensive machine simply ran out of gas Sunday afternoon.

Playing in the championship game of the NCAA Division II Great Lakes Regional, the Cougars overcame an early 10-point deficit to give host Kentucky Wesleyan all they could handle before falling 68-66.

With the loss, SIUE ended its best season ever with a 23-7 mark. Wesleyan, ranked ninth in the Division II polls, carries a 25-3 mark into Saturday's semifinal contest with Norfolk State.

"I thought we played real well," Cougar coach Larry Graham said. "We just lost to a great team. This is a very difficult game to play in and they certainly used the home court advantage to their favor."

The Cougars did indeed have trouble in the early going of the contest, as the Panthers went on a three-point binge, connecting on five shots from behind the line in the first eight minutes to assume a 27-17 lead.

But Cougar center Tim Goodwin and forward John Edwards answered the challenge by combining for 10 points to trim the lead to 33-25. SIUE continued to chip away and trailed only 50-46 at halftime.

Edwards, who scored 31 points on the way to the first-team all-tournament squad, got four points in the final minute.

"It's disappointing now. But in about five years, I think we'll look back and know that we did about everything we could do."

John Edwards

following Sunday's loss to Kentucky Wesleyan

"Due to a good job of scouting by our assistant coaches, we knew how John Edwards," Panther coach Wayne Chapman said. "But knowing how to stop John Edwards and stopping John Edwards are two totally different things."

But Edwards wasn't the only threat the Cougars had. He tied the game at 52-52 with two more buckets, then the two teams indulged in a bucket swap that lasted until the final minute of the game, when the Panthers opened up an 88-80 lead with 44 seconds showing.

Senior guard James Jappa nudged the Cougars closer with two three-pointers in the final 22 seconds, but SIUE couldn't come all the way back.

"I thought we might have given it up a little early," Graham said. "You're never really out of a game. And some of those shots went towards the end were right on the money. They just wouldn't fall for us."

Of the eight three-pointers, SIUE tried in the waning moments, only Jappa's would fall.

A battle-worn Chapman acknowledged the battle, praising Edwards.

"That was a tremendous game and a tremendous win for us," he said. "When we played SIUE in November, I said I thought they had the best five athletes in the nation at each individual position. And I think they confirmed that today."

"Beating them is just a huge tribute to our basketball program. The Cougars advanced to the title game by downing Southern Indiana 86-82 on Saturday. In the win, Jappa put on a shooting clinic, connecting on 11 of 20 shots, including 11 of 11 from three-point range to finish with 30 points.

"Sometimes you just get that feeling," Jappa said. "And I had that feeling out there. I was just putting them up."

Kenny Stanley, who played for Graham at Madison, had 35 points in the tournament, while sophomore Frankie Williams had 44 points and 11 rebounds in Saturday's game. He hit six free throws in the final two minutes to ice the win.

"I'd been in that situation before three or four times this year," Williams said. "I just think if you do the same thing every time, the shots will fall."

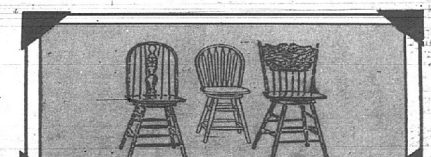

In Saturday's win, SIUE shot 55 percent from the floor. They shot 48 percent on Sunday.

"It's disappointing now," Edwards said following Sunday's loss. "But in about five years, I think we'll look back and know we did about everything we could do."

JESSE HALL prepares to do some cutting on the net after the Venice Red Devils captured the Vandalia Section championship Friday night with a 51-45 win over Staunton. ## TSN to co-sponsor basketball shootout

The Sporting News, a St. Louis-based national sports weekly, will join the Seven-Up Company as co-sponsor of the seventh annual 7UP Shootout, a high school basketball showcase scheduled Dec. 10, 1987, at Kiel Auditorium in St. Louis.

The event, which originally was the 7UP Shootout, will be called the 7UP/Sporting News Shootout. Created by 7UP in 1981 to focus more attention on quality high school basketball in the St. Louis area, the shootout has become known as one of the nation's premier high school events.

The 1986 Shootout proved to be the most successful in the event's six-year history. A crowd of nearly 10,000 last Dec. 18 marked the first time Kiel Auditorium had been sold out for a basketball event since 1972.

Three schools declared national champions: Baltimore Dunbar in 1985, DeMatha Catholic of Hyattsville, Md. in 1984, and Quincy, Ill., in 1981 — have played in the 7UP Shootout. Players who have participated include Venice's Jesse Hall, current college players Lowell Hamilton of Illinois (Chicago Providence-St. Mel) and Danny Ferry of Duke (DeMatha).

Keith Pickett will be the event director, a position he has held since the inception of the Shootout.

"The Sporting News is pleased to join forces with Seven-Up to co-sponsor such a successful event as the Shootout," said Richard Waters, president and chief executive officer of TSN.

"Participation in the Shootout also marks the first time TSN has been involved with such an event in the St. Louis area. The ongoing continuity of the 7UP/Sporting News Shootout will be great for the community."

"Although The Seven-Up Company is moving its headquarters, we recognize our strong ties to St. Louis and are pleased to join our better partner in continuing sponsorship of the Shootout," said James J. Harford, president/CEO of the Seven-Up Company. "We are especially pleased to be joined by The Sporting News and look forward to the most exciting Shootout in the event's history."
